We do not currently lend on a Consumer BTL basis.

Rental Calculations

Rental yield on the basis that the rent received (as projected by the valuer in his report) will be as follows:

- ICR <=50% LTV - 130% at 5.50% or 2% above product (whichever is the higher);

- ICR stress of 5.50% or 2% above product whichever is the higher at a stress of 150% over the whole portfolio.
- ICR stress of 5.50% or 2% above product whichever is the higher using the normal stress criteria (130%/140%) on the Mortgage Security (our loan).

- An average taken over a 30-week occupancy assumption applied on the basis of the example below.
- If the Low Season is £1,650, the Medium Season £2,300 and the High Season £3,100, an average per week of the 3 seasons (£2,350) will be used and then we will apply a 30-week occupancy assumption. In this example gross rental income per annum would be £70,500.
